

BERT SCOTT RETURNS AND HOLDS LONG CONFERENCE WITH SCHUBERT SUNDAY

"SAY I HAVE NOT GOT GOLD FEET"

That Is Word Star Witness Gives Public on Emerging from Snow-bound Ranch

SCHUBERT REFUSES TO TALK

But City Attorney Smiles and Admits He will Amend the Charges

Bert W. Scott, who is expected to be an important witness for the city in the police graft case, returned from his ranch at Dupree, S. D., late Saturday night and on Sunday was in conference with City Attorney Schubert for more than two hours.

Mr. Schubert emerged from the meeting wearing a smile even broader than that which ordinarily illuminates his good natured face, but he stoutly refused to divulge anything for publication.

"I regard these things as matters that should not go beyond the commission until they appear either as the complaint or as evidence," he said.

"Then you will amend the complaint?" he was asked. Mr. Schubert said that it would undoubtedly be necessary to do so.

Feet not "Cold"

Bert Scott said to a reporter that he had been advised by Mr. Schubert "not to talk."

"When I got about town Sunday I learned that people were laying wagers as to whether I had cold feet and would not come back to testify," he said. "You may just say for me that I am here. I guess the city attorney will not object to that sort of an interview."

Whereupon Scott and Schubert exchanged glances and bade each other "good day."

Schubert is Confident

Mr. Schubert wore the air of a man who "knew something," and that he is confident that, as he put it at the outset, "the facts will make a case" is hardly open to question.

Knows the Facts

Bert Scott is presumed to know more about the graft story than any other man in La Crosse. As agent for the late Louise Labree he handled her rentals and had a business knowledge of her financial affairs. That she must have consulted him regarding large sums is certain, and it is probably a fact that he made a frank statement to the city attorney.

Held by Big Blizzard

Bert Scott was sent for immediately after Frank Scott made his original statement in the case, and the fact that nearly two weeks have elapsed since then led to the talk that he was not going to "show up." Today he said that he was snowbound at his ranch, that it took eleven days for word to reach him, and that after that it required four days to cover the 100 miles on the Standing Rock line to the main line of the Northern Pacific. He said that in plowing through the drifts the trainmen uncovered a steer standing upright on the track and frozen stiff. The animal had evidently wandered as far as he could in the deep drift, and when it came to a standstill had been covered by the snow so rapidly that it did not try to lie down.

MERCER CAR WINS TROPHY

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 27.—Hughes, in a Mercer, won the Savannah trophy race today, covering 112.82 miles in 195 minutes and 37 seconds. His average time was 68.5 miles per hour. Louis Heinemann, in a Marmon, was second and Joe Niker, in a Marmon, was third. The prize was $2,000 cars.

UP TO COMMITTEE TO GET THE CASH

Mayor John Dengler this morning announced the appointment of Alderman Bert Smith, P. W. Mahoney, and J. J. Schmeelger to act as a special committee of the common council to devise ways and means for raising more revenue for the coming year.

As it is felt that more money will be needed in 1912, it was decided that a committee should be named to get ways of getting the additional funds.

CONFESSES CRIME TO HIS PRIEST

Kenosha Man Tells Story of Murder of Wife and Cousin to Father Confessor

HE PLEADS UNWRITTEN LAW

Says He Killed Couple, who Betrayed Him, with a Hatchet; Declares He Is Sane

KENOSHA, Wis., Nov. 27.—Insistent he is perfectly sane and the world will justify him for what he has done, Pasquale Marchesi, an Italian who confessed to Father Bandizzona, pastor of Holy Rosary Catholic church, he had slain his wife and cousin, who betrayed him, in jail today, anxiously awaiting the action of the law.

Worn out and haggard after twelve hours of aimless wandering Marchesi crept into the basement of the Holy Rosary church. He slept. When he awoke the sound of "choral communion" broke above him and he went to Father Bandizzona and unfolded the horrible story of his wife and cousin's alleged infidelity and then his awful revenge.

While his blood bespattered clothing bore direct evidence of the crime, Pasquale explained how he had come to America with his wife and children, later sending to Italy for a cousin Charles Marchesi, a boy of 16.

"For months I had distrusted my cousin," Marchesi told his father confessor. "Saturday afternoon I laid a trap. I told my wife I was going away to return late. I did not go, but instead went to the church and assisted with some work. About eight o'clock I started home. I didn't make a noise but crawled to a window—the bedroom window. I looked in. I was true. They lay side by side, my cousin and my wife. Near them was my two months old son and in another bed nearby lay Josephine, aged 4. All slept.

"I walked to the woodshed. I swung a hatchet into my hand. I stole back to the window and opened it. They had awakened. 'Cousin,' I spoke. He turned and saw me. Then I let the hatchet fall on his head and went into the room. My wife awoke. I raised the hatchet and struck her again and again. She was quite still when my cousin stirred. I raised the hatchet and struck him many times, until I tired. I was determined both must not live."

Takes Children to Brother

Pasquale then detailed to the priest how he caught into his arms the children whose night clothing was stained with the blood of their mother; his hurried flight to the home of a brother a block distant, where he explained he had quarreled with his wife—a not unusual happening—and fled into the night.

WOMAN'S DISGUISE REVEALS POVERTY

Pitiful Story of Sickness and Hunger Comes to Light Through Mother's Struggle

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—A pathetic family history of sickness, hunger and desperation, came to light here today with the arrest of a woman disguised as a man. The woman was Mrs. Anna Godfried, 38, the mother of four babies and wife of a man who for years has been bedridden from heart disease. The mother has been slaving at factories all that time but the steadily increasing cost of food ate up more than she could earn—$4 a week. Saturday, she said, the babies cried with hunger and the sick husband needed medicine. Desperate by poverty, the mother cut off her hair, donned her husband's clothes and started to walk to the truck farms north of town. She had heard that men there could earn $1 a day as laborers, and without car fare, Mrs. Godfried walked for nearly seven hours. Then she fell exhausted. Mrs. Lillian Lang was awakened by moans of a man who lay on her doorstep. Finally she mustered up courage enough to open the door and help the "man." Mrs. Godfried's cap fell off, disclosing her queerly cut hair, and Mrs. Lang penetrated the disguise.

Business men will see that Mrs. Godfried gets a good job.

ROOSEVELT NOT TO ENTER FIGHT

Taft vs. La Follette, an Open and Shut Fight, Washington's View of Situation

PROGRESSIVES ARE ELATED

Roosevelt will Not Be Candidate or Support Any Other Before Convention

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Taft vs. La Follette, an open and shut fight between the conservative and radical elements of the republican party, without side issues, or a possibility of compromise!

This is official Washington's view of the situation today, following the inspired statement by the Philadelphia North American, giving Theodore Roosevelt's position for the 1912 fight. This position in brief is as follows:

Colonel Roosevelt is not and will not consent to having himself considered for the republican presidential nomination in 1912.

Roosevelt has not pledged himself to support President Taft in 1912, and the president has never understood or been given reason to understand that Roosevelt will support him.

Roosevelt will not be enlisted in the support of any candidate for the presidential nomination prior to the next national convention.

Roosevelt Has Not Changed

Roosevelt's recent editorial in the Outlook relative to the trusts has been made the basis of the report that Wall street would back him for the nomination, contained no idea that had not been advanced by Roosevelt, while president. Colonel Roosevelt had not changed to meet Wall street views; Wall street had changed to accept the colonel's.

While the North American did not quote Roosevelt directly, it is known that last week the colonel wrote a letter to E. A. Van Valkenberg, editor of the North American, making clear his position. He did this following an appeal from certain of the progressive leaders who pointed out to him that whether he so intended it or not, the trust editorial was the progressive cause by creating the belief that Roosevelt would get into the fight and draw from the La Follette strength.

MAHONEY ORDERS SINKING OF WELL

First Step Towards Installation of New Water System to Be Taken Tomorrow

The first step towards the installation of the new well system for the city of La Crosse will be taken tomorrow, chairman of the special water committee of the council, Paul W. Mahoney, having today issued orders for the sinking of the first well.

The order was made to City Engineer George P. Bradish and to Herman Roessler, the local well digger.

This well is not a test well. A misunderstanding had existed among the people, probably due to the arguments on the question in the council. The well to be sunk tomorrow is a part of the series ordered by the railroad commission of Wisconsin and will form a part of the system of wells from which La Crosse will get its water supply.

"The well is to be sunk in accord with the recommendations of the commission," said Mr. Mahoney this morning. "Points will be sunk where the other wells are to be installed and the first well pumped. According to present plans the wells are to be sunk 100 feet apart. If the water is lowered by the pumping at the first well the others will be put down farther apart."

The work on the new system will be rushed and all possible delay avoided, according to present plans. All of the wells will be down by spring and work on the pumping station started, it is thought.

TRADES AND LABOR FOR FREE BRIDGE

The Trades and Labor council will co-operate with the Retail Grocers' Protective association and the Retail Merchants' association in taking steps to procure a free bridge. This is the decision of that body which was reached at the recent meeting.

A committee of three members, Joseph Vrchota, Peter Moran and George Schwankle, was appointed to act with the grocers' and merchants' association in whatever steps they deem advisable.

NEW CARDINALS ARE APPROVED AT CONSISTORY

Secret Conclave of Sacred College Elects Nineteen New Members to Cardinalate

POPE'S CHOICE IS RATIFIED

Pius XIII Refers to Year of 1911 as One of Mourning for the Catholic Church

FOUR AMERICANS ARE NAMED

New Membership of Sacred College Most Cosmopolitan in Its History

ROME, Nov. 27.—Nineteen new cardinals were elected at a secret consistory held at the Vatican today. The election amounts practically to nothing more than a formal ratification of the selections already made by the pope. His appointments are always approved.

The names of eighteen of the new members of the Sacred college were announced several days ago. That of the nineteenth, the pope stated, would be withheld from the public for the present. It is understood, however, that it is that of the patriarch of Lisbon.

The consistory opened at 9 a. m. and continued for an hour and a half. The pope and nearly a full representation of the Sacred college were present.

Year One of Mourning

The last year, the pope told the assembled cardinals, was one of mourning for the Catholic church, as the anniversary of its loss, through spoliation by the Italian government, of its temporal power. The year was also marked, His Holiness continued, by the impurity with which protestant sects, by which he was supposed to have referred especially to the Methodists, have opposed the church openly in Rome.

"A malevolent sect hating God and Christian order," as the pontiff referred to the Free Masons, had also, he regretted to tell his auditors, succeeded in separating the church and state in Portugal, where he hoped, however, that the clergy would continue to oppose those bent on the destruction of true freedom.

Referring to modernism and naturalism, His Holiness found comfort in the Catholic world's increasing love for the church and for the Eucharist. He was warm in his praise of the Eucharist congresses at Cologne, Montreal, London and Madrid.

Pius closed with a prayer to avert disaster from the church in Spain.

List of New Cardinals

The official list of the pope's appointments to the Sacred college the consistory ratified today, omitting that of the unannounced nineteenth name, is as follows:

Monsignor John M. Farley, archbishop of New York; Monsignor W. H. O'Connell, archbishop of Boston; Monsignor Diomedeo Falconio, archbishop of Larissa and retiring apostolic delegate to the United States, a naturalized American; Monsignor Francis Bourne, archbishop of Westminster, London; Monsignor Antonio Vico, archbishop of Filippi and papal nuncio to Spain; Monsignor Gennaro Granife De Belmonte, archbishop of Edessa and former papal nuncio to Vienna; Monsignor Gaetano Bisletti, major domo to the pope; Monsignor Giovanni Battista Lugari, assessor of the holy office; Monsignor Basilio Pompili, secretary to the holy council; Monsignor Jose Maria Cosy Machio, archbishop of Valladolid; Monsignor Hernandez Almaraz Santos, archbishop of Seville; Monsignor Leon Adolph Amette, archbishop

MRS. PATTERSON TERROR STRICKEN

Begs to Be Saved from Enemies; Clings to Matron in Frenzy of Fear

DENOUNCES EMIL STROUSS

Says Millionaire Man Who Caused Her Trouble Has Deserted Her

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 27.—An hour before the time set for the resumption of her trial on charge of murdering her husband, Mrs. Gertrude Patterson was still in collapse. After a day and night of hysteria during which jail physicians administered sedatives, the woman was in a highly nervous state which made it improbable that she could resume the stand today.

The fierce cross-examination to which she was subjected Saturday, when Prosecutor Benson riddled her direct testimony with a sudden appearance in the courtroom of Mrs. Mary K. Patterson, Charles Patterson's mother, broke down the defendant completely.

She seemed to be in a frenzy of terror all of yesterday and clung hysterically to Matron Normile and begged to be saved from her enemies.

"Oh, please do not leave me; please do not let them hang me," she repeatedly sobbed, until the doctors had to be called in. After she became quieter, Mrs. Patterson's anger and fear expressed itself in denunciation of Emil W. Strauss, the Chicago millionaire, clothier, to whom she alleged Patterson sold her for $1,500 cash.

"Strauss should be here at the trial to help me," she cried, "instead of letting me face all this trouble. He is the one man, which could help me now that I'm in trouble."

Mrs. Mary K. Patterson will take the witness stand in rebuttal of Gertrude Patterson's evidence, given on cross-examination, that she had been forced to order her mother-in-law out of her apartments for the reason that the elder Mrs. Patterson annoyed her husband and retarded his recovery.

REBELS CAPTURE PART OF NANKIN

Desperate Battle Rages in Huge Chinese City; Town Is in Ruins

SHANGHAI, Nov. 27.—The rebels captured part of the city of Nankin at noon, according to messages received from up river today, following a desperate battle which has been raging since early yesterday. The town's complete capture is imminent. It is still being heavily bombarded both from the land and river sides.

Nankin, it is believed, will be practically destroyed. For twenty-four hours a rain of shells has been poured into it from the forts which overlook it on three sides and from the rebel warships in the river.

The quarter already captured was found in ruins. Corpses were scattered everywhere. It is estimated 2,500 persons inside the city have been killed.

The garrison on Purple Hill showed no signs at last accounts, however, of surrender. The imperialist soldiers will be massacred if they fall into the rebels' hands alive, and evidently feel that they may as well die fighting.

Revolutionary leaders here are hurrying plans for a move against Peking. A force is ready at Canton to embark as soon as the rebel warships arrive to transport them to Tien Tsin, whence they will march upon the capital.

MUSICAL FOR MISSION

A musical entertainment will be given at the Tabernacle Baptist church Tuesday evening, Nov. 28. It is to be given for the benefit of the City Mission.

The distance was 289 miles. Mulford averaged 73.2 miles per hour, beating all records. His time was 236 minutes. Ralph DePalma, driving a Mercedes, finished second. His time was 238 minutes and 11 seconds. Spence Wishart, a Mercedes, came in third.

Foreign Secretary Grey Makes a Sensational Speech on Moroccan Situation

CHARGES AGAINST GERMANY

Says Relations Between England and Fatherland Are "Serious and Delicate"

LONDON, Nov. 27.—That the relations between France, Germany and England still are "serious and delicate" was admitted this afternoon in the house of commons by Foreign Secretary Grey, in making his long heralded speech regarding the Moroccan situation.

Sir Edward Grey's speech was particularly sensational, for the high English official practically charged Germany with acting in bad faith in the entire African imbroglio. It is conceded on all hands that the speech, instead of conciliating Germany and England, opens the breach wider.

Grey's admission that the relations between the three greatest nations of Europe were still of the most delicate character and that their importance and seriousness was appreciated by the English foreign office created a widespread sensation.

In the very beginning of this, his most important speech, Sir Edward, intimated that Herr Kiderlen-Wachter, German minister of foreign affairs, had not disclosed the situation fully and frankly.

Unless England was included as a party to any new settlement between Germany, France and Spain, he added in his talk with the ambassador, the British would consider the old treaty completely abrogated and the whole Moroccan question again open for discussion among the powers.

England does not, went on the speaker, support a provocative attitude by either France or Russia, its two allies, towards Germany but the English government does emphatically consider that a power like Germany, with the largest army in the world and a growing navy, should do everything possible to allay the natural apprehension in Englishmen's minds that it has no aggressive intentions toward Great Britain, which desires only to live on equal terms with the Fatherland.

It must be borne in mind, said the minister, that no improvement in Anglo-German relations is thought of at the expense of sacrificing England's friendship with other countries.

EXTRA JURORS TO FORESTALL DEATH

Judge Bordwell Takes Steps to Prevent Mistrial of the McNamara

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 27.—Because he asserts the defense is trying to get an "inside line" on his case, District Attorney Fredricks today refused to comment on the visit of the federal district attorney here to Washington in connection with the McNamara case, or whether he expected the Indianapolis evidence will be transferred to the federal court here and then to his office as the result of this visit.

"I do not care to try my case in the newspapers," said Fredricks, "but I don't believe it makes much difference in the present trial at least whether the Indianapolis evidence is brought here or not."

When the trial resumed today there were still three seats in the box which must be filled before permanent jurors could be excused. Permanent Juror Sexton was absent today and will remain away until after the funeral of his brother, who died Friday. It is believed the jury will be completed this week and then next week will be devoted to getting the two reserve jurors which Judge Bordwell has decided on as a step to prevent a mistrial in case of illness or death of jurors. The actual presenting of evidence is expected to begin two weeks from today.

Meeting Today or Tonight at which Police Board will Probably Grant Requests

At 8:15 this afternoon it was authoritatively stated that the police board will meet at 5 o'clock this afternoon and that it will issue an order suspending Yolton and McGrath and directing them to keep away from all places said to have paid for "protection."

City Attorney Schubert today requested the board of fire and police commissioners to suspend Detectives Yolton and McGrath, pending the investigation of alleged police graft and the trial of the charges made against the men.

Mr. Schubert also asked for an adjournment of the hearing, set for tomorrow night, for the purpose of further perfecting his case and of amending the charges as now filed with the commission.

This statement was positively made at the city hall today, and was not denied by members of the commission. It is expected that the commission will meet this afternoon or evening to pass upon these requests.

Board Will Probably Act

There is practically no doubt that both requests will be granted, as in such cases one continuance is usually granted as a mere matter of form, while the order of suspension would follow precedent and will be recognized as an essential step in seeking the truth.

Asked about the matter today, Mr. Schubert admitted that he had asked for a continuance and refused to deny that he had asked to have the men suspended.

"I shall have to refer you to the commission on these matters," he said. "As president of the commission Colonel Woodward has authority to make whatever statements he deems advisable."

Ch. G. M. Woodward, president of the commission, said this afternoon that he could not forecast the action of the commission.

Webber Better, Sees Schubert N

Chief Webber is reported so much better today that it was anticipated he might appear at his office. However, he had not arrived at 3:30.

Mr. Schubert had a conference with the chief yesterday, but owing to the latter's condition it was but a formal talk and no definite plans for co-operation were made.

MULFORD BREAKS RECORD

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 27.—Ralph Mulford, in a Lozier, broke the world's auto speed record this afternoon. The record made at Santa Monica, Cal., was 74.6 miles per hour for 200 miles. Mulford covered 222 miles at an average speed of 74.9 miles per hour.

THANKSGIVING 'EATS' SUPPLIED BY MAYOR

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 25.—The Shank milk-fed chicken and turkey, too, arrived here today and were introduced to the Indianapolis public. Relentless in his war on the high cost of living, the Indianapolis executive today followed up his success in selling potatoes at cost by placing on sale in the city market milk fed chickens, corn fed chickens, and "Just common chickens," then there were turkeys for Indianapolis housewives.

The sale of poultry is Mayor Shanks' Thanksgiving message to Indianapolis. If the sale today proves successful he asserted that more birds would be obtained straight from the country and sold at cost.

The Young Men's Christian Association will arrange to serve a dinner for those young men who are away from home on Thanksgiving Day. Last year twenty-five men sat down to a good old fashioned home dinner with turkey and all the fixings. A jolly good time is assured. Any man in the city who is interested whether a member of the Y. M. C. A. or not is invited and can make arrangements by applying at the office by phone or in person. Arrangements should be made before Wednesday noon Nov. 29.

AUTHORITIES CRITICISED

MARINETTE, Wis., Nov. 27.—William Williston, Jr., and William Gruman, miners, who gave evidence against a saloon keeper named Schuenemann, whose license was revoked, were sentenced by Police Judge Everett to ten days in the workhouse. A similar charge was made against John Gruman, but after paying a fine of $14, he was released. The action of the authorities in using the boys as witnesses, and then sentencing them to jail for a first offense, is severely criticised.

INSPECT SCHOOLS INSURE HEALTH

Furstman Says This Step Is Where Educator and Doctor Join Hands in Making Perfect Man

In an address before the teachers of the La Crosse high school Saturday Dr. Furstman argued for medical inspection of schools in a manner so forceful and with arguments so convincing that but little doubt was left in the mind of the educators as to the advisability of the adoption of the system here.

The address of Dr. Furstman follows: "Medical inspection of schools is an extension of the activities of the school where the educator and the doctor join hands to insure for each child such conditions of health and vitality as will best enable him to take full advantage of the free education offered by the state. The object is to better health conditions among school children, safeguard them from disease and render them healthier, happier and more vigorous."

"The intimate relationship between physical and mental conditions of the children and the consequent dependence of education on health conditions are well established."

"The first system of medical school inspection was inaugurated in Boston in the year 1894. Up to the present time there are 411 cities that have a system of medical school inspection. The greatest increase being from 1905 when there were only 55 cities with medical inspection. The necessity and the amount of benefit derived from the same being apparent from the rapidly with which cities are adopting the system within the last six years, there being an increase from 55 to 411 in that short time."

Examination to Detect Physical Defects

"The examination of school children for contagious diseases and for physical defects are two different things entirely. The examination of children for contagious diseases is simply a protective measure and looks mainly to the present safeguarding of the community."

"The examination of school children, physically, aims at securing physical soundness and strength of the individual and looks far into the future."

"It has been shown by successive results of a long series of studies that there are many physical defects that are common among children and have an important bearing on their present health and future development which can be easily remedied or modified if they are discovered early enough."

"About one-fourth of the cities that have any medical inspection of schools at all employ school nurses and the number is rapidly increasing."

SCHOOLS READY FOR VACATION

New Scheme to Be Tried in Grade Schools; Raise Money for Black River

It was announced this morning that Christmas vacation will extend from Friday, Dec. 22, to Wednesday, Jan. 3. Easter vacation will be from Friday, March 22, to Monday, April 1. School will close earlier this year than usual on account of the short Christmas vacation. The schools will close on June 14.

A new scheme is to be tried in the grade schools in the near future. All pupils that are reasonably sure of promotion or whose lessons for the day and conduct has been good or whose efforts have been commendable, will be dismissed at 3:30 in the afternoon. But those that have been sluggish in their work, will be required to remain until 4:00 and receive individual help from the teachers. It is hoped that this plan will be an incentive to the pupils to be more industrious in their work, and that better marks will result.

All of the public schools in the city are taking up a Thanksgiving offering to send to the schools at Black River Falls so that those schools may continue for the remainder of the year. The schools at Black River Falls have no finances on which to run and are entirely dependent upon outside help. From the way that money is coming in the La Crosse schools will be able to send more than two hundred dollars. The collection boxes will be open until Tuesday night in all the schools.

done and by competent men is an expensive proposition and answers only for large cities. Cities of this size have done excellent work with a school nurse that can be obtained for about $1,000 per year. This nurse acts as an instructor to parents, pupils, teachers and all members of the family in the principles and practices of hygiene and makes the most efficient link between the school and the home.

Arguments for Medical School Inspection

"It is a well recognized fact that during serious epidemics, that parents have a right to insist that the schools shall be safe places for them to send their children."

"This right has been recognized by the occasional closing of a school and the fumigation of the same, but this is not sufficient as it is well known that the school serves as a center of exchange for contagious diseases which pass from one pupil to another."

"The requirements of the schools today are far greater than they were years ago, the number of hours are greater, the number of days in the school year are greater and the standards are far more above those that were required years ago. Then again it must not be forgotten that the mode of living is somewhat different than it was years ago and with this change the physical defects we find in children is a natural occurrence."

"We have changed from an agricultural people to a race of dwellers in towns and cities and the environments are altogether different."

"The state compels children to attend school to a certain age for its own protection and if that is the case, the parents have just as much of a right to insist that their children, under the supervision of the school authorities shall be safe from harm and handed back to them in as good condition as they were at first."

"If the parents do not insist in that, the child itself has a right to insist upon it. Education without health is useless and it would be for better to sacrifice the education if in order to obtain it, the child must lay down its health as a price."

THE PLEASURABLE PHYSIC

"The Blood is The Life"

Science has never gone beyond the above simple statement of scripture. But it has illuminated that statement and given it a meaning ever broadening with the increasing breadth of knowledge. When the blood is "bad" or impure it is not alone the body which suffers through disease. The brain is also clouded, the mind and judgement are effected, and many an evil deed or impure thought may be directly traced to the impurity of the blood.

Foul, impure blood can be made pure by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It enriches and purifies the blood thereby curing, pimples, blotches, eruptions and other cutaneous affections, as eczema, tetter, or salt-rheum, hives and other manifestations of impure blood.

In the cure of scrofulous swellings, enlarged glands, open eating ulcers, or old sores, the "Golden Medical Discovery" has performed the most marvelous cures. In cases of old sores, or open eating ulcers, it is well to apply to the open sores Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve, which possesses wonderful healing potency when used as an application to the sores in conjunction with the use of "Golden Medical Discovery" as a blood cleansing constitutional treatment. If your druggist don't happen to have the "All-Healing Salve" in stock, you can easily procure it by inclosing fifty cents in postage stamps to Dr. R.V. Pierce, 663 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y., and it will come to you by return post. Most druggists keep it as well as the "Golden Medical Discovery."

You can't afford to accept any medicine of unknown composition as a substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery," which is a medicine of known composition, having a complete list of ingredients in plain English on its bottle wrapper, the same being attested as correct under oath.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels.

MASTER PREJUDICE

The Milwaukee Sentinel, which, while it likes to "kid" Senator Stephenson about his lapse from virtue to halfbreedism, is nevertheless friendly in that mellow way of birds of a feather, publishes the following telegram:

"WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 26.—
With the declaration that no instances of vote buying were discovered but with words of censure for the use of large sums of money in his campaign, the senate committee which investigated the election of United States Senator Isaac Stephenson is expected to report shortly after the opening of congress. Senator Stephenson, according to a well founded report here on Sunday, will be declared fully entitled to his seat.

The use of money in the Stephenson campaign was the result of the Wisconsin primary system, it was declared in the hearings, and a condemnation of that system either in the committee's report or by members of the committee on the floor of the senate is now looked for.

The committee's report is now being written. Its submission to all

Price of Damnation

Judge Hiram C. Plack, of West Liberty, said the other day, speaking of the notorious disfranchised vote sellers of his native Ohio:

"Some of these men, I understand, even claimed that they didn't know it was wrong to sell one's vote. They were worse than the voters of Cashel."

"All the voters of Cashel used to sell their votes, and a reform candidate once got the preachers of the town to preach against the sin of such scandalous conduct."

"The day after the sermons the reform candidate said to a party leader:

"Well, how will the election go?"

"It will be close and difficult an-expensive, sir," was the reply.

"What do you mean?" said the candidate.

"Well," said the party leader,
"the boys didn't understand that vote selling was a sin before and they always let their votes go at $2 apiece;
but now they know eternal perdition is awaiting them, I understand that every man jack of them has put up his price to $4."—Rebooth Sunday

He Knew Those Arabs

An aged colonel and a very sentimental young woman were together watching the sunset, says the St.
Paul Dispatch. She inquired, gushingly: "Oh, colonel, don't you love Longfellow's poems?" "Can't say I do," he replied. "Never read them, in fact. Consider all poetry absolutely driveling." "But," she persisted,
"surely you cannot help admiring this verse of his from 'The Day is Done,' you know. 'And the night shall be filled with music, and the stars that infest the day shall fold their tents, like the Arabs, and as silently steal away.'" "By Jove!" he exclaimed, "there is something in that. I know those Arab beggars—they would simply steal anything."

The Ring and the Girl

"I was among the guests at Skibo when Andrew Carnegie entertained Lloyd George."

The speaker, a New York millionaire, smiled complacently.

"What a raconteur Andrew Carnegie is, to be sure!" he went on.

"At dinner one evening the talk turned to the set of golf clubs, he had sent to the president and some one made a joking remark about the invisible strings attached to the clubs."

"But Mr. Carnegie declared that no strings, no conditions attached to his gift. He said he didn't believe in gifts that could possibly cause unpleasantness, and then he told an appropriate story."

"Two girls, the story ran, were drinking tea and eating scones at Sherry's. The first girl said:

"Maud is so sorry she took Reggie's ring back to Dymon's to be valued."

"Why?" asked the other girl, as she opened a fresh scone.

"Dymon kept it. He said Reggie hadn't been in to settle for it, according to his promise."

Blame the Hens

"Do you furnish affidavits with your eggs, showing exactly the minute they were laid?" said the fussy lady.

"No, ma'am, we do not," replied the marketman politely. "We tried to furnish such affidavits, but the hens positively refused to sign 'em."— Yonkers Statesman.

Had the Habit—And Nerve

A slouchy-looking boy, of about thirteen, was standing on the street corner, when a well dressed young man walked up to him.

"Say, sonny, can you give me a cigarette paper?"

"Yes, sir," said the boy and pulled one out of his pocket.

No sooner had the young man produced the paper than he said:

"Couldn't you loan me a little tobacco, too?"

The boy pulled out his tobacco box and gave the young man enough to make a cigarette.

After he had completed the cigarette the young man said, "Nok, I'd like to trouble you for a match."

When the lad rammed his hand down in his pocket he looked up and said: "You ain't got a darn thing but the habit, have you mister?"— Norman E. Mack's National Monthly.

It Wasn't Right

An old man (if being 93 is old) walked along Kearney street somewhat laboriously. Although feeble physically, there was an air of prosperity about him. That was what attracted the attention of a "touchy" artist.

"Say, mister," said the tramp, coming up, "could you help a poor fellow to get a meal?"

The old man looked him over and then exclaimed: "You ought to be ashamed of yourself, coming to me for help. Evidently you don't know that I am an orphan."—San Francisco Chronicle.

The Prodigal Judge

The Famous Novel by Vaughan Kester
Copyright, 1911, The Hobbs-Merrill Company

"There, Betty, the danger is over now and you were so brave while it lasted. I can't bear to have you cry!"

"I was wild with fear—all that time on the boat, Bruce—" she faltered between her sobs. "I didn't know but they would find you out.
I could only wait and hope—and pray!"

"I was in no danger, dear. Didn't the girl tell you I was to take the place of a man Slosson was expecting? He never doubted that I was that man until a light—a signal it must have been—on the shore at the head of the bayou betrayed me."

"Where are we going now, Bruce? Not the way they went—" she and Betty glanced out into the black void where the keel boat had merged into the gloom.

"No, no—but we can't get the raft back upstream against the current, so the best thing is to land at the Bates' plantation below here; then as soon as you are able we can return to Belle Plain," said Carrington.

There was an interval broken only by the occasional sweep of the great steering oar as Cavendish coaxed the raft out toward the channel. The thought of Charley Norton's murder rested on Carrington like a pall.

Scarcely a week had elapsed since he quitted Thicket Point, and in that week the hand of death had dealt with them impartially, and to what end? Then the miles he had traversed in his hopeless journey up-river translated themselves into a division of time as well as space.

They were just so much further removed from the past with its blight of tragic terror. He saw that her eyes held their steady look of wistful pity that was for the dead man; yet in spite of this, and in spite of the bounds beyond which he would not let his imagination carry him, the future, enriched with sudden promises, unfolded itself. The deep-sense of recovered hope stirred within him. He knew there must come a day when he would dare to speak of his love, and she would listen.

"It's best we should land at Bates' place—we can get teams there," he went on to explain. "And, Betty, wherever we go we'll go together, dear. Cavendish doesn't look as if he had any very urgent business of his own, and I reckon the same is true of Yancy; so I am going to keep them with me. There are some points to be cleared up when we reach Belle Plain—some folks who'll have a lot to explain or else quit this part of the state! And I intend to see that you are not left alone until—until I have the right to take care of you for good and all—that's what you want me to do one of these days, isn't it, darling?" and his eyes, glowing and infinitely tender, dwelt on her upturned face.

But Betty shrank from him in involuntary agitation:

"Oh, not now, Bruce—not now—we mustn't speak of that—it is wrong—it's wicked—you mustn't make me forget him!" she cried brokenly, in protest.

"Forgive me, Betty, I'll not speak of it again," he said.

"Wait, Bruce, and some time—Oh, don't make me say it," she gasped, "or I shall hate myself!" for in his presence she was feeling the horror of her past experience grow strangely remote, only the dull ache of her memories remained, and to these she clung. They were silent for a moment, then Carrington said:

"After I'm sure you'll be safe here perhaps I'll go south into the Choctaw Purchase. I've been thinking of that recently; but I'll find my way back here—don't misunderstand me—I'll not come too soon for even you, Betty. I loved Norton, he was one of my best friends, too," he continued gently. "But you know —and I know, dear, the day will come when no matter where you are I shall find you and not lose you!"

Betty made no answer in words, but a soft and eloquent little hand was slipped into his and allowed to rest there.

Presently a light wind stirred the dead dense atmosphere, the mist lifted and enveloped the shore, showing them the river between piled-up masses of vapor. Apparently it ran for their raft alone. It was just twenty-four hours since Carrington had looked upon such another night, but this was a different world the gray fog was un-masking—a world of hopes, and dread, and rich content. Then the thought of Norton—poor Norton—who had had his world, too, of hopes and dreams and rich content—

The calm of a highly domestic existence had resumed its interrupted sway on the raft. Mr. Cavendish, associated in Betty's memory with certain ear-splitting manifestations of ferocious rage, became in the bosom of his family low-voiced and gentle and hopelessly impotent to deal with his five small sons; while Yancy was again the Bob Yancy of Scratch Hill, violence of any sort apparently had no place in his nature. He was deeply absorbed in Hannibal's account of those vicissitudes which had befallen him during their separation. They were now seated before a cheerful fire that blazed on the hearth, the boy very close to Yancy, with one hand clamped in the Scratch Hiller's, while about them were ranged the six small Cavendishes sedately sharing in the reunion of uncle and nevy, toward which they felt they had honorable labored.

"And you weren't dead, Uncle Bob?" said Hannibal with a deep breath, viewing Yancy unmistakably in the flesh.

"Never once. I been floating peacefully along with these here titled friends of mine; but I was somewhat anxious about you, son."

"And Mr. Slosson, Uncle Bob—did you smack him like you smacked Dave Blount that day when he tried to steal me?" asked Hannibal, whose childish sense of justice demanded reparation for the wrongs they had suffered.

Mr. Yancy extended a big right hand, the knuckle of which was skinned and bruised.

"He were the meanest man I ever felt obliged fo' to hit with my fist, Nevvy; it appeared like he had teeth
all over his face."

"Sho'—where's his hide, Uncle Bob?" cried the little Cavendishes in an excited chorus. "Sho'—did you forget that?" They themselves had forgotten the unique enterprise to which Mr. Yancy was committed, but the allusion to Slosson had revived their memory of it.

"Well, he begged so piteous to be allowed fo' to keep his hide, I hadn't the heart to strip it off," explained Mr. Yancy pleasantly. "And the winter's comin' on—at this moment I can feel a chill in the air—don't you all reckon he's goin' to need it fo' to keep the cold out?
Sho', you mustn't be bloody-minded!"

MACARONI EATERS

ALWAYS HEALTHY
Some of the healthiest men and women in La Crosse are great eaters of "Minnesota" macaroni and spaghetti. Many people who never cared for these foods before are delighted with the rich, nut-like flavor of "Minnesota" macaroni and spaghetti and it is surprising how much better a family will feel by eating more of these foods and less meat.

Good Macaroni and spaghetti are the best and most nourishing foods known. They are fine for children—making their bodies strong and healthy. But if you want that rich, nut-like flavor be sure and get the delicious "Minnesota" brand macaroni or spaghetti—made from the finest Northern Durum wheat, with all the nourishing Gluten left in. It is easily digested and never gets soggy. All good La Crosse grocers sell it.

CHURCH BAZAAR OPENS TODAY

Big Event at St. John's Draws Large Crowds This Afternoon; to Last a Week

With all the products of a year's work in place in the booths, and the hall decorated to the limit with flags and bunting, the big annual bazaar of the St. John's Catholic church on the north side opened soon after noon today. It will continue for a week.

The school house adjoining the church has been changed into a miniature department store for the occasion. The seats have all been removed and piled in the church basement, and the walls are lined with booths in which is displayed the handiwork of the ladies of the church. The upper floor of the school house is devoted to a display of the hundreds of articles that will be disposed of in the big contest that is to feature the final day of the bazaar.

Many Amusements
The lower floor contains the booths for the sale of aprons, embroidery, and other articles of a similar nature. The amusement of the children is provided for with the fishpond in a corner of the lower room. This differs from the ordinary fishpond in that the children catch real fish in real water. The fish are tin, and are caught with a magnet at the end of a fishing line. Each is numbered, and the winner is given an article corresponding to the number of the fish he catches.

To Serve Meals
In the basement of the church a big room has been converted into a feasting hall. It is decorated with bunting and flags, and lined on either side with tables. The suppers and coffees served by the ladies are to be one of the big features of the bazaar, each night a different lady taking charge of the arrangements. Mrs. L. Roth, 1123 Charles street, is in charge of the catering today.

D. J. Murphy returned from Winona, where he had been conducting the case for the Plein family against Streckfus in the J. S. disaster of last year. The Streckfuss people claimed that plaintiffs must prove negligence while Mr. Murphy argued that they must prove that they were not negligent. The judge sustained Mr. Murphy.

The Daughters of Norway, Waukon's youngest club, entertained their husbands and other guests at a Thanksgiving spread at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Johnson at 6 p. m. last Monday. Plates were laid for 35 and the two long tables were beautifully decorated with grain, fruit, vegetables and the United States and Norwegian flags. Miss Westby read a paper on the origin of Thanksgiving.

A very pretty double wedding occurred at Cherry Mound. Ed Seim and Frances O'Hare, Ed McCormick and Rosalie Helm being the contracting parties.

HOW TO GET RID OF CATARRH

A Simple Safe, Reliable Way, and it Costs Nothing to Try.

Those who suffer from catarrh know its miseries. There is no need of this suffering. You can get rid of it by a simple, safe, inexpensive, home treatment discovered by Dr. Blosser, who for over thirty-six years, has been treating catarrh successfully.

His treatment is unlike any other. It is not a spray, douche, salve, cream, or inhaler, but is a more direct and thorough treatment than any of these. It cleans out the head, nose, throat and lungs so that you can again breathe freely and sleep without that stopped-up feeling that all catarrh sufferers have. It heals the diseased mucous membranes and arrests the foul discharge, so that you will not be constantly blowing your nose and spitting, and at the same time it does not poison the system and ruin the stomach, as internal medicines do.

If you want to test this treatment without cost, send your address to Dr. J. W. Blosser, 186 Walton street, Atlanta, Ga., and he will send you by return mail enough of the medicine to satisfy you that it is all he claims for it as a remedy for catarrh, catarrhal headaches, catarrhal deafness, asthma, bronchitis, colds and all catarrhal complications. He will also send you free an illustrated booklet. Write him immediately,

She has lived here all her life, graduated from the public school in 1898, taught a few terms of school, then went to college at Cedar Falls. She was in her third year there, one of the best in the class. She was taken ill with typhoid, which is epidemic at the school at Cedar Falls. Her sister and mother went to her and everything possible was done but proved of no avail. The funeral was held Wednesday, the large attendance and beautiful flowers attesting the love and esteem felt for her and for the mother and sister.

WESTBY AFTER THE TRAINING SCHOOL

VIROQUA, Nov. 25.—he county board has been turning out a quantity of business the past week, but will probably not complete the session until early next week.

A proposition was received from Westby to give the sum of $2,700 toward the erection of a new building for the training school, should such institution be located there, and also donate free use of the old building there until such time as a new building was erected. The matter was referred to the committee on ways and means, but the committee reported without action. It is very probable that nothing definite will be done with the matter this year, as the general opinion of the board seems to be that the training school is comfortably housed for the present.

It was decided to allow the city to use the new jail, providing they pay to the county 60 per cent of the fines collected.

The reports of the county officers were read and adopted. The report of the treasurer showed the total receipts of the year to have been $162,683.33, and the total disbursements, $149,151.75.

The report of the county clerk showed that the income from marriage licenses has been $96.50.

It was voted to take $16,000 out of the earnings of the asylum for current expenses.

It was voted to deposit the county's money in the two Viroqua banks half in each, at 2 1/2 per cent interest on daily balances.

The board members were royally entertained by the county officers at Running hall on Wednesday evening.

The board members certainly appreciate the repairs on the heating plant, which was put into use Monday.

Mrs. Dell Morrison had a serious attack of heart trouble this morning. She is better at present.

H. D. Williams and wife departed this morning for Washington, D. C., where they will spend Thanksgiving with their daughter, Mrs. W. Fields. From there the Williams' will go to Biloxi, Miss., there to pass the winter months.

The young ladies of Miss Kathryn Goodell's Sunday school class gave her a farewell surprise last night.

Simple Home Remedy for Kidneys and Bladder

A simple and easy way to cure weak, deranged kidneys or bladder is to use the following formula: Get six ounces good pure gin and add to it one-half ounce Murax compound and one-half ounce fluid extract Buchu. Take one to two teaspoonfuls of this mixture after each meal and at bed time. Nearly all good druggists have these ingredients. Anyone can mix.

Weak kidneys or bladder should be given attention as soon as any of the well known symptoms are noticed. Neglect in the matter is dangerous, as the serious forms, Bright's disease, chronic rheumatism or dread diabetes, may develop. These can be avoided if the above simple mixture is used before complications set in.

TRUST FINE REDUCED

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Nov. 27.—The supreme court today modified the decision in the International Harvester order cases, reducing the fine from $50,000 to $25,000. Judges Graves and Woodson dissented.

BEATTIE CLASSED AS MODERN JUDAS

Man Who Plans to Repent After Sinning Wrecks Moral Nature, Says Rev. Faville

GOD'S LAWS ARE DIFFERENT

His Judgment Based on Spirit that Prompts Sin and Punishment Results Accordingly

"Any man, whether a Judas or a Beattie, who sins wilfully now, expecting to escape the penalty of sin later on through repentance, wrecks his moral nature. The most abject failure a man can make of himself is to try to make the provision for sin a license for sin."

This is the statement made yesterday evening by Rev. Henry Faville, pastor of the Congregational church, discussing the phases of Henry Clay Beattie, Jr.'s reported repentance just before his death in the electric chair.

Mr. Faville said that if Beattie deliberately murdered his wife, expecting later to escape divine punishment by repentance, he was in the case of Judas, and that it were better for him if he had never been born. But he declared that sooner or later, every man, regardless of his misdeeds, is given a chance for repentance. If not in this world, he said, then in some other form of existence. He declared that God was impartial, and that no man would be refused an opportunity of repentance.

Beattie Had Chance

He held that Beattie had an equal chance for salvation with other sinners, although his crime may have been greater.

"With God," said Mr. Faville, "the spirit of murder is no harder to deal with than the spirit of covetousness, for both mean a wrong attitude of heart toward God."

To some, he said, this may seem unjust, that the man who breaks the Sabbath appears as bad in the eyes of the Almighty as a murderer, but he added that the concrete sin counted less than the spirit in which it was committed. Both, he declared, were rebellion against God, and this he stated was the measure of a sin.

Had Beattie been pardoned by the Governor, Mr. Faville declared that he would have been free, but not happy, while in accepting eternal salvation from his Maker, Mr. Faville insisted that he gained both happiness and freedom.

"A murderer's soul can be saved," said Mr. Faville, "if he will confess his sin and turn to the right. It repeats the parable of the Prodigal Son. If the sinner, the murderer, confesses and turns to the right, the sin about which God is concerned, the disobedience to his mandates is no longer there."

"Whether this murderer was saved or not, I do not know," said Mr. Faville further. "I cannot read hearts. But this I do know, that if God, looking into his heart, found that the spirit of murder had given way to the spirit of love, he was saved."

WESTERN GOVERNORS TO VISIT THE EAST

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 27.—Governors from all over the west assembled in St. Paul today preparatory to taking the western governors' special on its eastern tour tonight. The western governors' special will carry ten governors and the agricultural exhibits of ten states for 4,000 miles through the east.

The governors who will make the trip are: James H. Hawley, Idaho; John Burke, North Dakota; A. O. Eberhart, Minnesota; R. S. Vessey, South Dakota; Edwin L. Norris, Montana; J. M. Carey, Wyoming; Oswald West, Oregon; John F. Shafroth, Colorado; J. E. Barnes will represent Governor E. M. Hay, of Washington, and Governor Hiram Johnson of California will be represented to Calvin Brown.

The object of taking the west to the east trip is purely an educational one. The train will return to St. Paul December 16, in time for the governors to visit the Northwestern Land Products show here December 12 to 23.

MERGER OUSTER SUIT IS DENIED

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Nov. 27.—The Missouri supreme court today denied the ouster asked by Governor Hadley when he was attorney general, to dissolve the merger of the Gould lines of railroads and properties in this state. The defendants were ordered discharged. These defendants were the Missouri Pacific railroad, the Rich Hill Coal Mining company, the Western Coal Mining company, and the Kansas and Missouri Elevator company.

Margaret, 6, was first to be afflicted, and quarantine on that case was raised about ten days ago. Saturday Esther, 2, was found to have developed the disease. The little one is today reported to be progressing satisfactorily, and the entire family is taking precautionary treatment.

DARING CYCLIST THRILLS HOUSE

Big Audience Held Breathless as Carlotta Takes Death-defying Plunge at the Majestic

JIM TENBROOK TRIO SUCCESS

Combination of Music and Foolishness Is Big Hit; Raymond and Hall Classy Dancers

Looping the loop at a speed of 120 miles an hour, on a bicycle, the climax of the bill presented at the Majestic this week, proved yesterday to be the thriller that was advertised. Carlotta, the dainty lady who does the act, came in for rounds of applause at the completion of her daring ride.

Carlotta's act consists of a few tricks of bicycle riding, with the loop the loop as a wind-up to the act. The audiences yesterday sat motionless while Carlotta personally went over each rope and guy of the big loop and superintended the final adjustment of the stunts. They scarcely breathed as she pulled herself hand over hand up the inclined platform and disappeared in the flies. There was a moment of suspense, and then the audience held its breath as Carlotta's voice was heard inquiring if all was ready. Down flashed the pink clad figure, a blur of color, and quicker than it takes to tell it Carlotta was around the loop and bowing smilingly to a relieved outburst of applause from the body of the house.

There are other acts at the Majestic too, this week, any one of which is good enough to close the bill at a metropolitan vaudeville house. Tenbrook, Muller and Tenbrook present an act that next to Carlotta claims the greatest interest. The act combines comedy, music and impersonations in a bewildering fashion, and met with rounds of applause.

Classy Dancers

The classiest dancers that have appeared at the Majestic for months are Raymond and Hall. They both sing a little and dance more than a little. For precision and cleverness their act has seldom been equalled at the local theatre.

Al. Abbott, character comedian, sings the songs of many types in pleasing fashion. He was well received at every performance yesterday. His rendition of a negro love song especially met with the enthusiastic approval of the audiences.

On the Banks of Killarney, presented by Emmet and Emmet, lives faithfully up to its name as the act beautiful. It was an instantaneous hit with Majestic patrons yesterday.

DUCKLOW, LUMBER DEALER, DEAD

Charles Ducklow, aged 57 years, a prominent lumberman of Wilton, Wis., and well known in La Crosse, died at the St. Francis hospital yesterday morning, death being due to stomach trouble.

Mr. Ducklow was one of the old residents of Wilton, and he often came to La Crosse on business. He had a large number of friends in this city all of whom were sorry to hear of his death. He had been bothered with stomach trouble for some time.

Surviving Mr. Ducklow are a widow and four sons, Charles, a stenographer in the C. & B. Co. freight office in La Crosse; William, who has a position in his father's lumber company office at Wilton, a younger son, who resides in Wilton, and Elmer, who is employed in Milwaukee.

INSURANCE ANSWER FILED

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 27.—In their answer to the $50,000 damage suit brought by the Commercial Fire Insurance company of the District of Columbia which was refused a license to do business in this state, State Insurance Commissioner Ekern, Deputy Commissioner Beedle and Actuary Anderson allege that a New York holding company purchased the controlling interest in the organization and control of various insurance companies, as well as a surety company. It declares that the selling scheme bore the earmarks of the professional promoter.

of Paris; Monsignor Francis Dubillard, archbishop of Chambéry; Monsignor Francis Marie Roverie de Cabrières, bishop of Montpellier; Monsignor Franz Bauer, archbishop of Olmutz; Monsignor Franz Nagl, archbishop of Vienna; Father G. Van Rossum of the Order of the Redemptorists; Father Ludovic Billot of the Order of Jesus.

Next Pope to be Italian

The full quota of members of the Sacred college is seventy but death had reduced this membership, at the time the present selections were made, to 46, of whom twenty-eight were Italians and eighteen foreigners. Thus the present appointments will bring the number of Italians up to thirty-three and of foreigners to thirty-one, leaving it practically certain that only an Italian can be selected pope at the next conclave.

The new membership of the Sacred college is the most cosmopolitan it has ever had, including thirty-three Italians, seven Frenchmen, six Spaniards, six Austrians, four Americans, two Germans and one each from England, Ireland, Holland, Belgium, Portugal and Brazil.

With four American cardinals—including Cardinal Gibbons and counting Cardinal Falconio as an American—the United States has for the first time in its history adequate representation in the Sacred college.

The newly created Cardinal Farley will take the official title in the Sacred college as bishop of Santa Maria Sopra Minerva, the title held by Cardinal McCloskey of New York, the first American ever elevated. Cardinal O'Connell's title will be that of bishop of San Calisto, a church attached to the Benedictine monastery of the same name. Cardinal Falconio will be bishop of Santa Maria in Araceli.

Give Red Hats Nov. 30

The present consistory is the first in centuries at which so large a number of cardinals were created simultaneously.

As had been previously announced by the pope, a public consistory will be held November 30, at which the red hats, the insignia of the cardinalate, will be formally presented to the new cardinals.

Archbishop and bishops were confirmed in their offices at today's consistory as follows:

AUDITORIUM TO BE DISCUSSED TUESDAY

The directors of the board of trade will take up and discuss the matter of the plan of the Governor's Guard association for building an auditorium in La Crosse at their meeting at the La Crosse club at 4:30 tomorrow afternoon.

At the last meeting the plans for the construction of the armory and auditorium were discussed and the matter was referred to the directors. It is probable that, after talking over the matter tomorrow, that the board will either appoint a special committee to take charge of this or else the entire board will take the matter up, but it is more likely that a committee will be named to take charge of the plans.

The question of the size and the seating capacity of the proposed structure will also be discussed by the directors tomorrow as will also the problem of raising money for the building, the committee to have charge of this matter.

Reports and other routine business will occupy the remaining time of the meeting.

VERMILYA CASE PROBED

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—Details of the suspicious circumstances in connection with Policeman Arthur T. Bionette, which later led the police to charge Mrs. Louise Vermilya with the poisoning or half a score of relatives and friends were related today at the second coroner's inquest. A. E. Laroque, uncle of the dead man, testified that he suspected that something was wrong with Bionette's sudden lapse from health to death, and Dr. L. A. Van Orsdale told of treating the policeman for acute gastritis and later of his recovery.

SEES CONSPIRACY OF WALL STREET

Cincinnati Financial Authority Scores Bankers for Backing Aldrich Scheme

"COMBINE WANTS PANICS"

Says Money Ring People Are Only Losers in Price Destroying Panics

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Nov. 27.—"In accepting the Aldrich so-called central reserve fund plan, the American Bankers' association solemnly joined with Wall street in the most daring and dangerous conspiracy against the welfare of the people of this country that has ever been cooked in the greed and avarice of high finance."

In these scathing terms Alfred O. Crozier, financial authority and economist, today denounced the action at New Orleans and called upon congress to save the people from the effect of "this evil compact."

"Shall the control of the public currency be public or private? That is the issue," said he. "The Aldrich plan offers banks for their support the most colossal bribe of all history. With less than a billion and a half of clear cash assets the combined banking institutions loan and collect interest on fourteen billions of bank credits. It is a dangerously big business on a shoestring."

"And now the Aldrich plan would take away from the government and give the syndicate of banks as a Christmas present a billion dollars of public currency to put in their reserve so that with relatively no investment the banks can collect interest on and loan back to the people at profit ten billion dollars more business credit—mere financial wind."

"I have too much faith in the intelligence of the American people to believe that they will permit this outrage."

The money combine wants panics if the high financiers can fix it so that panics will not hurt their banks, because their money will yield higher interest rates and buy twice as many securities and more properties and labor during a panic. The people are the losers from price destroying panics and they will lose doubly under the new scheme."

BERT ALLEN NAME OF HOTEL SUICIDE

The body of the man who suicided by drinking carbollic acid at the Northwestern hotel Saturday morning was today positively identified as Bert Allen, Reedsburg, by Bert Hager, his brother-in-law, who arrived here from Reedsburg this morning to view the remains.

The body will be interred in Oak Grove cemetery some time today. Mr. Hager having taken charge of the funeral arrangements.

No motive for the suicide other than lack of money has thus far been discovered, and Mr. Hager is able to throw no light upon the subject.

During the past four years Allen has been employed by the Chicago & Northwestern Railroad company and his relatives had lost all trace of him during that time.

LOZIER LEADS FOR VANDERBILT CUP

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 27.—When the great Vanderbilt cup race was half over this afternoon, Ralph Mulford, in an American made Lozier was leading a field of nine, four cars having dropped out as the result of comparatively slight amounts. At that time no one had been hurt.

Mulford had covered 145.5 miles at the rate of 76 miles an hour, eight miles an hour better than the previous Vanderbilt record. Despite the terrific speed the cars had been perfectly handled and the immense throng was wildly enthusiastic.

WITNESS HANGS SELF

ASHLAND, Ohio, Nov. 27.—Michael Melich is dead here today, a victim of the Ohio law which permits a person being held a prisoner indefinitely as a witness in a criminal case. Melich, a foreigner, could not understand that he was held only as a witness, and was not charged with slaying Martin Sabol. Sunday he hanged himself in his cell.

TOBACCO CROP GAINING GROUND

Acreage Jumps from 71 to 6,194 in the Last Year; Timber Decreases

WHEAT LAND IS ON INCREASE

Livestock Shows Slight Decrease; Barley Planted by More Farmers Now

The statistics of crops and timber growing in 1911 in La Crosse county which were compiled today, show that during the last year the timber land has decreased 20,000 acres or about 40 per cent. During the year of 1910 there was 54,163 acres of growing timber in La Crosse county while there has been but 34,168 acres of growing timber during the last year.

The ground which has been cleared of timber is being converted to the use of raising tobacco crops as shown by the record. During the summer of 1910 there was but 71 acres of tobacco land under cultivation while there was 6,194 acres devoted to the raising of tobacco during 1911.

This indicates that La Crosse county is rapidly becoming a tobacco growing center.

Following are the records for the last two years:

	Acre	Acres
Wheat	1910.	1911.
Corn	2,940	3,903
Oats	20,279	15,732
Barley	29,006	25,672
Rye	9,470	10,467
Potatoes	5,527	5,603
Apples	1,373	1,325
Tobacco	467	521
Hay	71	6,194
	29,142	25,630

The number of cows have decreased from 15,651 to 15,505, while the horses have decreased from 5,591 to 5,327.

BUTTON WORKER IS ACCUSED OF MURDER

MUSCATINE, Iowa, Nov. 27.—Following the murder of Policeman Theodore Gerischer, from ambush, early Sunday morning and the arrest of Thomas Haskins, a union button striker, at Rock Island charged with the crime, the police today adopted rigorous measures to prevent street fights, forcibly dispersing all crowds.

A telegram from Rock Island says askins denied any part in Gerischer's murder.

Officers are now on the way to Rock Island to bring him back. Four witnesses to the murder, all striking button workers, are held. The coroner's jury charged Haskins with the crime.

CAR, BUT NOT THE MAKER, IN POLITICS

Captain Wm. Mitchell Lewis, general manager of the Mitchell-Lewis Motor company of Racine, Wis., says: "I jumped into politics and out again. Never again, but I do not mind Mitchell cars being used for political work." Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin is loyal to state industries and has just purchased a seven passenger six cylinder Mitchell touring car; undoubtedly this car will be used by the senator for campaign work. If Senator La Follette be successful, the Mitchell would enjoy the distinction of helping to make a president.

Chicago Grain Letter

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—Cables telling of a break in wheat prices at Liverpool, caused by reports of better weather conditions in Argentina, exerted a marked bearish effect on the market here today. Prices at the opening were off, but there was a later reaction.

A bearish weather forecast, for rain, snow and a cold wave over the corn belt, caused a rush of buying orders in the corn market immediately after the opening, and the cereal ruled strong throughout the day.

There was very little change over Saturday's prices indicated in the oat market today. Trading was only of a moderate volume, there being some buying on the firmness in corn.

The market for provisions had a firm undertone.

HERE'S A TRADE SECRET THAT BEN SAYS TO KEEP ON THE Q. T.!

BY HERRMANN

If you could go to Holland and see the cleanly, sanitary process by which the wholesome cocoa bean is converted into Van Houten's cocoa—if you could see the splendid factories (the largest in the world) and the happy, thrifty Dutch work people—you would begin to comprehend why Van Houten's leads.

And the chances are that you would become an inveterate user of this exquisite beverage—which has twice the strength of the ordinary cocoa.

GOPHERS GIVEN WESTERN TITLE

Critics Place Minnesota First, Chicago Second, and Wisconsin Gets Third

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—Walter Eckersall in the Tribune says: By defeating Illinois, Minnesota won six of its seven games, Wisconsin playing the Gophers to a tie. As a result the big team of the northwest rightfully is entitled to the conference championship. The eleven has played good football all season and its claim to the honors cannot be disputed.

G. W. Avelson of the Record-Herald gives the title to the Gophers, but with the honor a little clouded. He hints that if Minnesota should meet Chicago today, and the Maroons played the same sort of a game they did Saturday against Wisconsin, there might have been a different story to tell about the championship.

Walter Steffen in the Examiner calls Minnesota an "unsatisfactory champion."

"In summarizing the season play in the west," he says, "Minnesota must be given the title of champion by virtue of no defeat having been registered against her. The Gophers defeated Nebraska, Missouri Valley champion, 20 to 6, Chicago 30 to 0, and were held to a tie by Wisconsin. No other team in the west has a clean slate. Chicago is entitled to second place because of having defeated Wisconsin. The Cardinals are given third place over Michigan, the Wolverines having been defeated by Cornell, and Chicago, having defeated Cornell, is clearly entitled to be placed above Michigan. Wisconsin also is placed above Michigan because the Badgers clearly demonstrated on last Saturday that there is little to choose between them and the Maroons."

ILLINI PUTS UP STRONG FIGHT

Gophers Are Pushed to the Limit to Defeat the Orange and Blue

URBANA, Ill., Nov. 27.—Illinois held Minnesota to 11 points, and more than that, was a serious contender for victory in Saturday's game on Illinois field. Instead of being overwhelmed by the northernmen, the rejuvenated Illini, keyed up to a high pitch, proved dangerous at all times, and had fortune winked favorably to them on at least two occasions, victory would have perched on the banners of orange and blue.

Added to that is the doubt as to whether officials erred in the ruling that Carter of Illinois did not make a touchdown when the Gophers were caught asleep on a forward pass play in the fourth quarter. Be that as it may, the Illini fought a battle that will be remembered long in Illinois annals as an instance of pluck and spirit against odds. Spurred to superhuman efforts by the cheers of the homecomers, the Illini scrapped like demons and Minnesota would have been well satisfied with a single count.

Rooters Praise Team
Outweighed by the Williams outfit, Captain Roberts' men made up for the discrepancy by hard work. It was as great a game as was ever played here, and the Illini rooters chanted the praises of the eleven that came back.

Not until the third quarter did the scales turn. Illinois had fought the northernmen to a standstill. The Gophers had proved unable to gain consistently. Resorting to field tries, Smith was unable to connect by air route, but the steady, remorseless grind of the invaders wore away the desperate resistance of the Illini until the Gopher backs struck their gates. Headed by Rosenwald, they plowed their way to the Illinois goal. Plowed is the best way to express it. So Rosenwald scored. Merrill missed the goal try and the Illini took heart again.

Seiler Thrills Stands

It remained for Otto Seiler to make the play that sent the orange and blue's stands frenzied with joy. Just before the third quarter ended Seiler, who had been substituted for the veteran Oliver at end, was braced to try a drop kick from the Gopher thirty yard line. As the Illini rested they planned the strategy that nearly won. When the whistle blew Seiler again took his place, but instead of kicking he made a long side pass to Don Carter, who stood waiting right at the Minnesota door. Carter caught the ball squarely and fell apparently over the line. There was a big argument which ended when the officials ruled that no touchdown had been scored.

With the ball on Minnesota's five yard line, Illinois had three chances to score, but the Gopher line was stonewall. After two ineffectual assaults, Rowe was given the ball on an end run. Rosenwald nailed him three yards from the line and the Illini perished.

Illini in Slump

Denied this touchdown, the Illini took a brief slump. Capron passed to Rosenwald, who in turn shot the ball for a long gain to Stevens, who

CHICAGO DEFEATS WISCONSIN TEAM

Stonewall Defense on Two Yard Line and Clever Passes Bring Victory to Midway

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—Playing the best football seen on Marshall field this year, the University of Chicago eleven Saturday wound up the season by defeating Wisconsin 5 to 0. It was a grand windup to an erratic season for the Maroons and Chicago's greatness could be measured by inches, as it was the Maroons' magnificent stand on their own one yard line which saved them at least from a tie, if not a defeat.

The sadly mussed conference football title was further scrambled by the unexpected performance of the Maroons. Minnesota, being the only undefeated team in the west, has the best claim to the honors, but as Chicago defeated the Badgers, who tied the Gophers, it will take some mathematical demonstrations to convince the Midway cohorts that the northernmen have a clear claim, especially as an ineligible player contributed to the Maroons' defeat at Minneapolis.

As befits heroes, the Badgers fought to the last ditch, but that ditch was crossed toward the close of the game after an overwhelming onslaught. Getting into the shadow of the goal posts by a series of terrific spurts, the Maroons found themselves separated from the dividing line by some twelve yards. Here began a march which sprouted fire in every step.

Sauer was shot at Wisconsin's left tackle, and, wriggling and crawling, measured eight yards before the five Cardinals had pushed his profile into the turf. The big halfback was called on again, but more Badgers were in the way this time, and the gain was shorter, but long enough to put the ball on the Badgers' two yard line. A consultation followed and Pierce was called upon to make himself famous. He nobly rose to the occasion by shooting around Buser and over the line, incidentally carrying Referee Hackett with him.

Maroons Put to Test

This unexpected piece of maneuver came shortly after the pugnacious behavior of the Maroons on their one yard line. Almost from the center of the field the Badgers, aided by two perfect forward passes, had put the ball on the Maroons' ten yard line. Gillette and Bright rushed the ball within touching distance of the last chalk line, where Tandberg was called upon for the supreme effort. Like a projectile running wild he shot at the center, but unfortunately there was somebody to meet him in the person of the chunky Scrubby and the ball was presented to the defenders. This ended Wisconsin's chances of scoring.

It was a bitterly fought game and while "Keckie" Moll had the use of his legs was more or less even. The wonderful quarterback outkicked Scrubby on practically every exchange and this kept the Badgers out of the danger zone. In the second half "Keckie" began to show signs of wear and tear and his good right toe began to lose its cunning. The distance between the chalk lines grew longer and longer to the fast declining kicker and in the final quarter he was led reeling off the field. He stuck until his legs refused to move and it was also found after the game that his shoulder was badly injured. It was gameness renewed by one spontaneous outburst of cheers from the Wisconsin stand.

was downed on the Illinois ten yard line.

Here the Gopher weight told again. Stevens on the third down scored and the goal try was accomplished by Morrell.

UNLIKE ANY OTHER

One secret of Monarch superiority lies in the wonderful responsiveness of its key action. In no other typewriter in the world do the keys so readily yield to the slightest touch of the finger.

That is why the Monarch is easier to operate than any other writing machine.

MONARCH LIGHT TOUCH

That is why it wards off fatigue and saves nerve-strain on the part of the stenographer. In consequence, her work is more accurate, greater in quantity than it is possible to obtain with any other writing machine.

MICHIGAN HELD BY NEBRASKA

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 27.—Hurry Up Yost urged his men through their final game Saturday, only to escape with a tie. For three quarters of the game the Cornhuskers champions of the Missouri valley bore through the heavy Michigan line in a fashion that dismayed the Maize and Blue.

After the Crimson and White had been deprived of a touchdown and Michigan finally scored, the Nebraska backs smashed the defense of the Wolverines and took the ball over the line.

All the regular players of the Michigan team were on the field. In addition Thomson strengthened the backfield that was weakened in the Pennsylvania game. The final score was 6 to 6.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 27.—The replevin suit of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers to obtain possession of books and documents, now in the custody of the federal authorities as evidence of the McNamara dynamiting cases, was thrown out of the Indiana court here by Judge Remster.

FIVE YALE MEN FREED

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 27.—The cases of five Yale students implicated in the Hyperion theater riot last Saturday were nolle in police court today. The cases of the remaining two, Louis Bomelsier, Brooklyn, N. Y., and Joseph N. Ewing, Philadelphia, were continued for a week.

YALE-HARVARD BATTLE A TIE

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 27.—Johnny Harvard muzzled the Yale bulldog Saturday afternoon, held him at bay through four periods of savage football and went to a scoreless tie for the third time in fourteen years in their thirty-first annual gridiron battle before 42,000 rooters at Harvard stadium.

From a spectacular point of view the game was fraught with thrills. Both teams tried the forward pass frequently, but it was only successful on one occasion, when it was used for a small gain. In the first half Yale outrushed Harvard, 3 to 1, but in the second the crimson turned and did the bulk of ground-gaining on straight rushing throughout the game.

Felton easily outpunted both Howe and Camp. The ball was in Yale's territory the greater part of the game. On the whole, Harvard played a better game in all departments. Potter and Howe's tries for field goals all went a trifle wide of the post and Frothingham's was a miserable failure.

Ask a bachelor for a pin, and ten to one he'll produce a safety pin. But many a college graduate avoids the disgrace of dying rich.
